VICTORY

Perched On the Banners of the Democratic Party in Kentucky.

Louisville Elects Her Full Quota of Judicial and Legislative Officers.

A Thorough Organization Was Responsible For Splendid Result.

GOOD MEN ELECTED TO OFFICE

The entire Democratic State ticket was elected in Kentucky on Tuesday by a decisive majority. In Louisville the Democrats carried every office save that of one, School Trustee in the Forty-sixth Legislative district, where Dr. E. L. Carpenter was elected over Charles E. Lang, the Democratic, and James Dorsey, the Republican nominee. The county of Jefferson, including the city of Louisville, gave Gov. Beckham a majority of more than 6,000 over his Republican opponent. Notwithstanding the fact that the Republicans made strenuous efforts in behalf of Col. Henry L. Store, their nominee for Judge of the Criminal Court, and Alfred Sellman, nominee for Commonwealth's Attorney, both of these candidates were defeated, Col. Store by more than 4,000 votes and Sellman by 6,000. Col. Becknap carried only one ward in the city, the Fifth, which is largely populated with negroes. At that Col. Becknap only received forty-one votes more than Gov. Beckham.

The election passed off very quietly, considering the fact that it was a State election. In only one precinct did any serious trouble occur. That was at Fourteenth and Green streets, where opposing election officers indulged in a revolver duel and the Democratic judge of the election was wounded.

Joseph Pryor, who was elected Judge of the Criminal Court; Judges Shackelford Miller and Samuel B. Kirby, of the Chancery Court; Judges Emmet Field, Thomas R. Gordon and Upton Muir, Judges of the Common Pleas divisions, are all excellent men, fair minded and able jurists. Their election means that the dignity of the law will be upheld in Louisville. The election of Joseph M. Huffaker as Commonwealth's Attorney means that his efforts in the prosecution of crime have been appreciated and approved by the people.

Among the members of the Legislature who have been elected to represent this city who should make his mark is a brilliant young Irish-American lawyer, James C. O'Connor. He will reflect credit on his constituency, the people of the Tenth ward.

Among the gentlemen who were elected Aldermen are William J. O'Hearn, Dr. Joseph W. Fowler, Joseph Nevin and Charles E. Taylor, all men of ability, intelligence and high moral character. The other Aldermen are good men, too, but the four named are expected to guard well the interests of the city. In the lower board of the General Council from Augustus J. Bizot down to Thomas Moran and Dr. Drake in the Twelfth ward, all are good, representative men. With such a General Council Louisville should make great strides within the next two years.

The School Board will possess several new faces this year, Phil B. Thomas, Dr. E. L. Carpenter, Ben Stehila and Chapman Young. Of these Dr. Carpenter, although a Democrat, ran as an independent candidate and beat both the Democratic and Republican nominees. The people of the Second and Third wards were not satisfied with Charles E. Lang, the incumbent School Trustee, and voted for Dr. Carpenter, a well known and popular man with the people of his district.

The vote showed that the city and county had been thoroughly organized by the Democrats. Messrs. F. Joseph Herrmann and William J. Semolin, the County Clerk, deserve great credit for the perfect organization in the city and county. The good work they rendered the party and its candidates should be remembered. Both Messrs. Herrmann and Semolin have worked night and day perfecting the organization. How well they did their work is shown by the result of Tuesday's election.

BALFOUR'S PLAN

To Settle Educational Question Said to Have Been Accepted.

According to the Parliamentary representative of the London Daily News, Mr. Balfour proposes to settle the question of higher education in Ireland—a question in which he has long been interested. It is also said that his cabinet has come to an agreement with the Irish party in regard to certain Irish business for the next session of Parliament.

Mr. Balfour's plan is to form Dublin University into a national university and three constituent colleges—Trinity, Queen's College, Belfast, and the Catholic College at St. Stephen's Green, each to be suitably endowed. The plan also includes a proposition to utilize the Queen's colleges at Galway and Cork for general educational purposes.

The same correspondent declares that the Catholic hierarchy have agreed to accept these proposals, and that the acquiescence of the Irish party follows as a matter of course, and the policy of organization next session will be the same as that adopted at the last session. The Irish Nationalists will support the Government and help the Balfours in power until the bargain is completed.

GET TOGETHER.

That is Carnegie's Admonition to the People of Ireland.

Andrew Carnegie arrived in New York last week after spending several weeks abroad. Listen to what he says: "I spent most of my vacation in Ireland and have not paid much attention to the current events of the day. I was enjoying myself so keenly in that delightful country that I did not care to bother about outside events. Ireland is a grand country, the Irish are a grand people and naturally I had a grand time. King Edward has passed along the word to Ireland to 'wake up.' The only word I left behind me was to get together, and I feel confident that the Irish people are getting together and that a glorious future is in store for them. I attended a banquet in Cork, where this new get-together spirit was exemplified. At that banquet I sat surrounded by Bishops of the Roman Catholic church, Bishops of the Church of England, Irish Bishops and Protestant Bishops, Englishmen, Scotchmen and Irishmen, and I tell you they were getting together in a manner to make your heart glad. I believe this get-together spirit will be the keynote of the Irish future happiness. The Irish land bill is the salvation of Ireland. I think it will stop the emigration, and give Ireland the opportunity to prove herself the great country that she is, through her own people."

INTO ETERNITY

Miss Catherine A. Meagher Has Passed to Join Her Brother.

Miss Catherine Agnes Meagher, the sixteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Meagher, died at the family residence, 1441 Seventh street, on Friday afternoon of last week. Miss Meagher had been ill several weeks and suffered from typhoid fever and pneumonia. She bore her sufferings with heroic Christian fortitude and patiently awaited the end.

The deceased was a faithful member of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Louis Bertrand's church and was noted for her devotion to church and charitable work. Her funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand's on Sunday afternoon, the church being crowded to the doors. Only a few months ago Cosmas Meagher, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Meagher, was removed from his sphere of earthly usefulness. The bereaved family have the sympathy of many friends in their hour of affliction, but are consoled by the belief that there loved ones are waiting for them in a better world.

GRAND OFFICERS

Of the Y. M. I. Will Pay An Official Visit to Satoll Council.

Grand President Kelly will make his first official visit Monday night, when he will attend the meeting of Satoll Council, Young Men's Institute. He will be accompanied by Grand Secretary George J. Smith, District Deputy Vincent B. Leutz, Chairman of the Board of Grand Directors Joseph Piazza, Grand Director William J. O'Connor, Harry Colgan and Edward J. Bosler, Deputies at large, and Past Grand President William Perry. All members of Satoll Council are urged to be present to greet the new Grand President and the other grand officers. President Kelly will have several important matters to bring before the meeting which will be the means of arousing new enthusiasm in the council. During the next few months the other Kentucky councils will be visited.

FATHER WHITE'S BAZAR.

Arrangements for the bazar to be held in aid of St. Francis of Rome church are progressing rapidly. It will be held in the parochial school room adjoining the church from December 1 to 10 inclusive. The people of Clifton are taking a great interest in the arrangements and a number of very handsome and useful ornaments have been secured and will be disposed of during the bazar. The friends of the Rev. Thomas W. White all over the city will aid in making the enterprise a success.

KINDLY REMEMBERED.

President Minary, of the Louisville Railway Company, with his usual generosity, has presented the motomeu and conductors who have been in the service of the company more than five years with uniforms and overcoats. In all 154 uniforms were given out and twenty overcoats. The employees of the Louisville Railway Company appreciate the gifts made by the management.

GOVERNOR J. C. W. BECKHAM.

LARGE CLASS

Of Candidates to Be Initiated by the Local Knights of Columbus.

Many Visitors Will Witness the Degree Work Tomorrow Afternoon.

Order Is Growing and Flourishing in the United States.

BANQUET AFTER THE INITIATION

The Louisville Council of the Knights of Columbus will initiate a class of fifty candidates tomorrow afternoon. The initiation will be held at Elks' Hall, the regular meeting place of the Knights of Columbus. In addition to the 300 local members it is estimated that 100 visiting Knights will come from Cincinnati, Indianapolis and elsewhere.

The Louisville degree team, headed by District Deputy Charles J. O'Connor, will confer three degrees. The initiation will begin at 1:30 o'clock promptly.

After the initiation the new and old Knights will repair to the Louisville Hotel, where a banquet will be held. The Hon. Edward J. McDermott will be the toastmaster. John S. Leahy, a prominent attorney of St. Louis, will respond to the toast, "Knights of the Twentieth Century." John Walking, of Cincinnati, private secretary to M. E. Ingalls, President of the Big Four Railroad Company, will respond to the toast, "Heroes of the Church." J. P. O'Meara, of Elizabethtown, Ky., will respond to a toast, but his subject has not been announced.

The Knights of Columbus, although a comparatively new organization, is one of the most popular Catholic societies in America. Councils have been established in many of the larger cities in the United States and Canada. The object of the order is to unite together Catholics of good character for the highest development and elevation of its members in all that pertains to the best in moral, social and literary acquirements and to assist each other in the attainment of all commendable undertakings.

The order was originated in Connecticut less than a score of years ago and soon found favor throughout the New England States. Thence it extended into New York and the Central States. As the years sped by councils of the order were established through Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois, Missouri and across the Rockies to the Golden Gate. Other councils extend from Canada on the North to New Orleans in the South. At the present rate of progress it will not be many years before at least one council will be established in every large city in the Union.

The Knights of Columbus in each community are made up of leading business and professional men. Merchants, manufacturers, lawyers, physicians, priests, railroad men and men from every walk in life who adhere to the principles of the order are brought together in this body. Its members must be practical Catholics and as a consequence men of irreproachable character. The personnel of the Louisville council compares favorably with any council in the order, and its gentlemen who will be initiated tomorrow are among the best known citizens of the city and State.

RECENT DEATHS.

John Murphy, an aged and respected Irish-American citizen, died at his home, 327 Floyd street, on Friday afternoon of last week. Mr. Murphy was born in the County Clare, Ireland, eighty-one years ago, but had lived in Louisville sixty-two years. Soon after coming to Louisville he engaged in the grocery business and conducted it in a successful manner until his age compelled him to retire about one year ago. Six weeks ago he began to fail rapidly, so that his family were prepared for the inevitable when death arrived last Friday. The deceased leaves the following children: Mrs. Dan Haeger, Mrs. John Cronin, Mrs. John Lyons, Mrs. A. J. Jones, Mrs. J. F. Smith and P. J. Murphy. The latter is a resident of Indian Territory, but arrived in Louisville a short time before his father's death. The funeral took place from St. Michael's church on Monday morning and was largely attended.

Thomas B. Peak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Peak, died at the family residence, 2124 Lytle street, on Sunday. The child was a bright little fellow six years old. The funeral took place from St. Cecilia's church on Tuesday morning. The entire community sympathized with Mr. and Mrs. Peak in their grief.

Thomas Nelligan, the little son of Thomas S. and Dora Nelligan, died at the home of his parents, 1624 Twenty-third street, Sunday afternoon. The little one was two years and ten months old. Mr. and Mrs. Nelligan have the sincere sympathy of many friends in their great bereavement.

The death of Mrs. Kate Connaughton, which occurred at the family residence, 1303 Dumesnil street, Tuesday afternoon, will be a source of regret among a large circle of friends. The deceased was the widow of John Connaughton. Her funeral took place from St. William's church on Thursday morning.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin was buried from the residence on Bertrand avenue Sunday afternoon. The little one was the first and only child of Patrolman McLaughlin and lived but a short time. They have the sympathy of many friends in their grief.

John J. Gannon died at St. Anthony's Hospital on Saturday night. The funeral took place from the residence of his sister, Miss Annie Gannon, 411 Fourth avenue, on Monday morning at 8:15 o'clock and from the Cathedral of the Assumption at 8:30 o'clock.

Mrs. Ellen Maloney died at the residence of her son-in-law, P. H. Roller, 1547 Bank street, Sunday night. The funeral took place from St. Patrick's church Tuesday afternoon. The deceased was a well known lady and her death was greatly regretted.

Mrs. Mary McNamara died at her home, 1005 Dumesnil street, last Saturday night. Her funeral took place from St. Louis Bertrand church on Tuesday morning. The deceased was well known and highly respected.

MISSION CLOSED.

The mission given by the Rev. Father Edwin Drury at St. Philip Neri's church, Floyd and Woodline streets, was brought to a successful close last Monday night. "Purgatory" was the subject of the closing sermon. The pastor, the Rev. Dr. Oscar P. Ackerman, the Rev. Fathers Rock, White, Bachmann, Melody and Weiss occupied seats in the sanctuary. During the mission five non-Catholics signified their desire to become members of the true church and are now under instruction. Both Fathers Drury and Ackerman are well pleased with the results of the mission.

GREAT EUCBRE

Will Be Held Under Auspices of Catholic Knights and Ladies.

Large Crowd Expected to Fill Phoenix Hill Park Next Monday.

Funds Will Be Devoted to Entertainment of National Delegates.

HANDSOME AND USEFUL PRIZES

A mammoth eucbre will be given at Phoenix Hill Park Monday afternoon and night, under the auspices of the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America, and there is every indication that the affair will be a success socially and financially. As is well known, the Catholic Knights and Ladies of America is a mutual insurance association, devoted to the relief of Catholic men, women and children who lose their natural protectors through death. The order had its origin in Louisville and was established twelve years ago. Since then it has grown rapidly, until at the present time it is recognized as one of the leading fraternal orders in the country. Its biennial convention will be held in this city next spring and the funds accruing from the eucbre Monday night will be used to defray the expenses of entertaining the delegates to this national convention. It is expected that more than 400 delegates will attend this convention, representing nearly every State and large city in the United States.

The local committee deserves great credit for its game fight in securing the convention for Louisville. The last national convention was held in Detroit, and although St. Louis was a determined competitor, the Louisville delegates made such strong arguments that a majority of the delegates decided to hold the next convention in this city. Now that the time to hold the convention is approaching the local officers are desirous of entertaining the visitors in true Kentucky style.

Arrangements have been made to accommodate 1,600 people at the eucbre Monday afternoon and evening. Four hundred tables will be placed in the hall, and while the crowd in the afternoon is not expected to be as large as at night, ample accommodations have been made for both in the afternoon and evening.

The committee in charge is composed of one member from each of the twenty-five local branches of the order, headed by Thomas Keenan, Chairman; Miss Mary E. Sheridan, Secretary, and Dr. P. S. Gauss, Treasurer. This committee claims the distinction of having successfully conducted the largest eucbre ever given in this State. It was held at Phoenix Hill Park last summer, when 500 tables were in play and 100 prizes were awarded.

Mrs. David Welsh will have charge of the games and the awarding of prizes Monday afternoon and evening. More than 100 useful and handsome prizes have been secured and will be awarded at the close of the games. Mrs. Welsh will be assisted by Chairman Keenan, Miss Sheridan, Charles Breckel, Joseph Vetter, Dr. Ganz and a host of others in entertaining those who attend the eucbre Monday afternoon and evening. Arrangements have been made with the Louisville Railway Company whereby transfers will be made to the park from all parts of the city. The East Walnut street cars pass the park gates, while the East Jefferson street cars and East Broadway cars run within one block of the park. The afternoon games will be called at 2:30 o'clock and the evening games at 8:15 o'clock.

JESUIT PRIESTS

Have Conducted a Successful Mission at St. Mary Magdalen's.

The Rev. Fathers Boorman and McKeogh, members of the Jesuit order, are conducting a very successful mission at St. Mary Magdalen's church this week. The mission began at the late mass on Sunday last. High mass was celebrated by the pastor, the Rev. Father William Gausepohl. The music rendered by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Fred Harig, Jr., was inspiring and grand.

The initial sermon of the mission was preached by Father McKeogh, who spoke eloquently on the sins of presumption and despair. He told how many men who had been brought up in the faith had fallen away, and who, while recognizing the truths of religion, presumed too much on the mercy of God and postponed their conversion too long. On the other hand, there were those who, realizing the enormity of their sins, despaired of forgiveness. Father McKeogh told his hearers that God was more willing to forgive sinners than they were willing to ask His forgiveness. He concluded with the story of the prodigal son.

After mass Father Gausepohl complimented the congregation on its attendance. In the evening after vespers Father Boorman preached. During the week the mission services were held daily at 5:30 and 8:30 o'clock in the morning for grown people and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon for children. The rosary was recited, a sermon delivered and benediction of the most blessed sacrament given at 7:30 o'clock each evening. The mission will be brought to a close tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

ALL PLEASED

With the Work of the Mackin Council Lecture Committee.

Mackin Council, Y. M. I., held its regular meeting Tuesday night. The attendance was not as large as usual, but matters pertaining to council affairs were spiritedly discussed. In the absence of President Murphy Vice President Hugh J. Higgins occupied the chair. The members expressed their approval of the work of the lecture committee, Clarence H. Zook, Henry Blumer and Dr. Alphonse Bizot, and all praised highly the lecture delivered at the previous meeting by Alderman James J. Fitzgerald. The next lecture will be given on the last Tuesday night of this month. The series of complimentary eucbres will continue each Thursday evening during the month, and on Monday, November 23, a pay eucbre will be given at Mackin club house, 530 Twenty-sixth street. The funds raised will be used to defray the expenses of the complimentary eucbres.

GRAND CEREMONIES

Attended Golden Jubilee Celebration of Covington Diocese.

Thousands of Catholics joined in celebrating the golden jubilee of the diocese of Covington and of the consecration of the Right Rev. George A. Carroll as its first Bishop last Sunday. The main celebration was held at St. Mary's Cathedral in Covington. Archbishop Elder, of Cincinnati, occupied a throne on the right of the sanctuary, while Bishop Maes celebrated Pontifical mass. Bishop Chatard, of Indianapolis; Bishop Richter, of Grand Rapids, and Bishop O'Gorman, of Sioux Falls, and Monsignor Murray, of St. Mary's Seminary, occupied positions of honor in the sanctuary.

The jubilee sermon was preached by the Right Rev. Bishop O'Gorman. After vespers in the evening the Rev. Father Albert Reinhardt delivered an address.

WATSON GETS THERE.

John C. Watson, until recently a clerk in employ of the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, has become a member of the firm of Frank G. Jones & Co., coal dealers, with offices at Seventh and Magnolia and Baxter avenue and Jefferson streets. He is deservedly popular, and while he was rising in railroad circles determined to branch out for himself. Finding a favorable opening with Frank G. Jones, he took advantage of it. A member of the Knights of Columbus, he would make a good husband for some pretty girl, as his success in business would seem assured.

FIRST BISHOP DEAD.

The Right Rev. John Brondel, the first and only Bishop of Helena, Mont., died at his residence, adjoining the Helena Cathedral, early Tuesday morning. Bishop Brondel was consecrated on December 14, 1879. At the time of his death he was in charge of the spiritual welfare of 50,000 Catholics, and was assisted by fifty-three priests.

ENTHUSIASM

Prevailed at the Meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H.

Two Degrees Conferred in An Impressive Manner On Large Class.

County Board Will Arrange a Concert For Miss Maud MacCarthy.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY TO BE CELEBRATED

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians held a large and enthusiastic meeting at Hibernian Hall on Friday night of last week. Miss Mary Cavanagh presided with her customary grace and dignity. Miss Mary Bohan was elected to membership, after which the new degree team exemplified the ritual in the initiation of forty ladies who had been obligated at the previous meeting. The degree team is made up of Misses Maggie Coughlin, Mary Corcoran, Josephine Godfrey, Mary Foley, Mrs. Lawrence Mackey and Miss Mary Sheridan. Two degrees were conferred in a very expressive manner.

State President Keenan addressed the meeting and paid a deserved compliment to the degree team and told of his recent visit to Covington, where he witnessed an initiation conducted by a degree team from Division 6 of Cincinnati. That team, Mr. Keenan said, had given the best exemplification he had ever witnessed.

County President Sullivan, in addressing the ladies, urged them to be united and not to allow petty differences to arise within their ranks. State Vice President Tennessey complimented the work of the ladies' degree team, urged the members of the committees to realize the importance of the work assigned to them, and said despite the fact that the State President had spoken so highly in praise of the Cincinnati degree team, he believed there were teams just as good in Louisville and vouched for the general excellence of that of Division 4.

John J. Barry, of the Kentucky Irish American, likewise complimented the work of the ladies and advised them not to hold meetings of too great length; rather they should follow the example of the men and bring their deliberations to a close at a reasonable hour. State Secretary Meehan and Thomas Callahan also made brief addresses.

The following committees were appointed by the President, Miss Mary Cavanagh:

Visiting Committee—Mrs. Mary J. Clines, Mrs. John Reilly and Miss Annie Bohan.

Employment Committee—Mrs. William M. Higgins, Mrs. David Welsh and Mrs. Annie N. Cunningham.

Literary Committee—Misses Maggie Coughlin, Jennie McAvoy and Hattie Higgins.

State President Keenan invited the members of the degree team to attend the next meeting of Division 1 to witness the work of that degree team.

The County Board, Ancient Order of Hibernians, met on Thursday night of last week with a full attendance of the members. County President Sullivan presided and George H. Butler acted as Secretary. Joseph Cooney, Vice President of Division 3, was obligated. Final reports were made on the Irish field day. All bills were reported settled and a comfortable balance remains. Quarterly reports from the various divisions showed that the order in Jefferson county was making favorable progress.

The County Board decided to invite Miss Maud MacCarthy, the talented young violinist, to come to Louisville. If she accepts the invitation a concert will be arranged and several other artists will be secured for the occasion. The matter of celebrating St. Patrick's day was also discussed. County President Sullivan and the Presidents of each of the four divisions were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the appropriate celebration of Erin's saint's day. The nature of the celebration has not been announced, but the committee has determined to make it surpass any former celebration of the day in Louisville. The County Board adjourned to meet at the call of County President Sullivan.

DECIDED SUCCESS

Was the Eucbre Given by New Albany Catholic Knights.

The Halloween eucbre given by the Catholic Knights of America of New Albany in Trinity Hall last Friday night was an unqualified success. Sixty-two tables were in use and Louisville and Jeffersonville were well represented among the players. The Knights feel so encouraged that another may be given in the near future.

Ten handsome and useful prizes were awarded and all present enjoyed a very pleasant evening. Con J. McBarron, Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, deserves great credit for the manner in which the affair was conducted.

LOUISVILLE, KY. SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1903

KENTUCKY STEADFAST.

The people of Kentucky have spoken in no uncertain voice in favor of Democracy. They have voted for peace, prosperity and progress. They have elected Gov. Beckham, thus condemning force, fraud and assassination. More than that, the people of Louisville not only helped to swell the majorities of the Democratic State candidates, but elected Democratic city officers, legislative and judicial.

The Kentucky Irish American desires to congratulate the Democratic victors, State and local, on their success. It asks in return that each and all of the successful candidates be true to the trust reposed in them by the people of Kentucky. If they are true to this trust they can each and all expect our support when they again offer for office. But if they become recreant in their duties, the Kentucky Irish American will not hesitate to condemn their conduct.

The election of Tuesday was a great victory for the Democrats. It showed to the world that the State is peopled with men who believe in the government of the people, by the people and for the people. Kentucky is now out of that class of States where men are not allowed to hold office because of their religious convictions. Let us hope that it will always remain so.

APROPPOS TO THE LIBRARY.

Louisville is to have a new library, thanks to Andrew Carnegie and the taxpayers of Louisville. The building in which this library is to be located has not been erected, but it is even now time to begin mapping out plans for the literature that is to be there when it is erected. Lest the matter be overlooked, we would respectfully call the attention of the Library Board to the fact that there are thousands of Catholic taxpayers who will contribute to the support of this library; that there are thousands of Irish-American taxpayers who will contribute to its support. Therefore Catholic literature and Irish literature should be given a place in this new library. In several of the Eastern cities where libraries flourish the Catholic and Irish elements have been overlooked. We do not mean that the books must be printed in Celtic characters or in the Gaelic language, but we mean that there are masterpieces of English literature written in the English language by Irish men and Irish women; that there are gems of prose and poetry written in English by Catholic men and women, and that all of these should be placed upon the shelves of the proposed library.

We do not believe that any member of the Louisville Library Board would discriminate against books of the kind we refer to, but it is possible that Catholic and Irish literature might be overlooked.

CHURCH MUSIC.

The subject of church music seems to be engrossing the minds of many leading priests and prelates at the present time. Many of the foremost thinkers, who occupy high ecclesiastical positions, insist upon clinging to the plain Gregorian chant, while there are equally as many learned teachers who uphold classical music. Church music is hardly a matter of dogma, so it does seem that a layman should be allowed to give voice to his sentiments.

In the first place the church is the house of God. His children seek to beautify it with artistic paintings, with myriads of lights, with gold and silver and with beautifully sculptured statues. Why, then, should we not add all that is beautiful in music?

We are taught that our Heavenly Father is loving and forgiving; that when we have finished our career on this earth we will join Him in the heavenly home prepared for us ages ago. Why, then, should we sing the sorrowful Gregorian chants instead of music that is typical of joy and glory? The lark, the nightingale and other birds of the field praise the Creator in joyous tones. Why, then, should we continually cry out in anguish? There are times for all things. No one would think of rendering Haydn's Imperial Mass at a requiem service. Why, then, should we whine in mournful music at Easter, when our redemption was complete, or at Christmas, when the angels proclaim "Glory to God on high! Peace on earth to men of good will?"

Several changes were made in the standing of the candidates in the Kentucky Irish American's World's Fair contest during the present week, and the interest seems to be unflagging. A new entry has been made in the single ladies' race. The new candidate is a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., and is quite popular. The lady in question will in all probability cut considerable figure in the contest. The standing of the candidates will be published next week. Those who have clipped ballots for their friends should send them in at once. New and old subscribers have the right to cast fifty votes on the payment of one dollar.

The Times, not the London Thunderer, but its would-be Kentucky prototype, the Louisville Times, under date of Friday, October 30, said: "The Irish are better off in Ireland than America, says John Redmond—not with an election coming on." However, the Irish of Louisville have grown accustomed to expect dirty flings from the Times. And yet, when it comes to a question of finances, the editor of the Times is just as glad to get an Irish dollar as any other dollar.

The Rome correspondents of American newspapers continue to distribute Cardinals recklessly throughout the United States. One thing is certain—Catholic Cardinals are not named by newspapers, and many of the predictions fall far short of the truth.

In the death of William Fitzgerald, editor of the Catholic Journal of the South, at Memphis, Catholic journalism has lost one of its ablest exponents and the South a loyal citizen. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to his family in this hour of trial.

BENEFITS OF EXERCISE.

Next to bodily cleanliness exercise may be reckoned as the greatest aid to beauty. In fact, exercise is almost necessary to cleanliness, for it is a great incentive to perspiration, which is nature's way of throwing the impurities of the body to the surface of the skin, from which they are then removed by the use of water. Open air exercises should be taken every day, but according to strength. One should return home after walking, riding or cycling with a sense of being pleasantly fatigued, but without any feeling of exhaustion. Exercise should be taken regularly, and if possible dumb-bells should be used night and morning. The corset should not be worn while exercising with dumb-bells. Skipping is an excellent thing for the figure, and it is one of which our grandmothers were fond. It is usual with children to throw the rope forward when skipping, but it is far better to throw it backward, for it expands the chest much better.

Miss Katherine Meehan has returned home after a visit of three months to her cousin, Mrs. Carroll Brookfield, of Cincinnati. Miss Meehan was the recipient of marked social attention and made many friends in the Ohio metropolis.

William Burke, a machinist in the employ of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, and a very popular young man, suffered painful injuries to his hand on Monday. It was mashed by a piece of falling machinery. Mr. Burke's injuries, while painful are not serious.

The new baby boy who recently arrived to gladden the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Duane was baptized last Sunday. The little fellow was the recipient of many handsome presents, including gifts from members of the No. 16 Engine Company and the Standard Oil Company.

Miss Leona Arthur entertained a number of her friends Saturday evening with a Halloween party. Those present were Misses Edna Woods, Mary Woods, Leona Bohn, Nellie Burke; Messrs. Albert Bohn, Walter Bohn, William Woods and Norman Arthur. Refreshments were served abundantly and all present enjoyed a pleasant evening.

The Harlem Club will give its first dance at the new Athletic Club on Friday evening, November 20. The club is composed of popular young men and its dances should prove popular. The committee in charge is made up of Joseph Carey, Louis Dugan, John Dwan, Joseph Hanrahan and Robert Cnetig. Good music will be in attendance and a jolly time is promised all who attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kerr, of 731 West St. Catherine street, quietly celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their wedding on Friday of last week. Mr. Kerr is now employed in the boiler-shops of the Illinois Central Railroad Company. For many years he occupied a similar position with the Louisville & Nashville. Both he and his estimable wife enjoy a wide popularity, and have the best wishes of their large number of friends for many more years of wedded bliss.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Reardon have issued invitations to the wedding of their daughter, Miss Hatella Rose Reardon, and David Burke. The marriage ceremony will be performed in St. Louis Bertrand's church at 6:30 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, November 25. After the ceremony nuptial mass will be celebrated. Mr. and Mrs. Burke will take a brief wedding trip and will be at home to their friends at 1514 Seventh street, after December 5. Miss Reardon is a pretty and accomplished young lady. Mr. Burke is a popular member of the police force. Both are receiving the congratulations of many friends on their approaching nuptials.

HIS HOLINESS

Will Send a High Ecclesiastic to Represent the Vatican.

His Holiness Pope Pius X. received William R. Curtis in audience during the present week and was formally invited to send a prominent ecclesiastic to represent the Vatican at the St. Louis World's Fair. In reply to the invitation Pope Pius replied: "I accept the invitation with gratitude and charge you to express our appreciation of the thoughtfulness of including the Holy See among the other nations invited."

DID GREAT GOOD.

The Rev. Fathers Boorman and McKeogh, who are conducting the mission at St. Mary Magdalen's church, recently concluded a successful mission in the Cathedral at Lincoln, Neb. During their stay in the Nebraska capital more than sixty adults applied for instruction, and E. Benjamin Andrews, Chancellor of the State University, sent a special request to Father Boorman to deliver a lecture on "Socialism." It is needless to say that Father Boorman complied with the request and handled his subject in a masterly manner.

MUSICAL COMEDY.

Phil Sheridan Council, Young Men's Institute, at Bellevue, Ky., will give an entertainment on Thursday evening, November 26. "Puss in Boots," a musical comedy, will be given by a chorus of forty voices, all local talent. The entertainment promises to be a great treat to the people of Bellevue. It is expected that many members of the order from Covington and Cincinnati will witness the performance.

CELTIC COURSE.

National President James E. Dolan has shown his appreciation of the Catholic summer school by founding a course of Celtic literature. It has been suggested that Mr. Dolan secure the services of the National Chaplain, Archbishop Gleason, to deliver this course of lectures.

REST CURE.

When the tired mother finds her nerves strained by excitement or pain the only relief is rest. "Just let me have quiet and peace," she says, "and when I have had a good rest I will be perfectly well." She is quite right in her treatment of herself, but why does she not accord the same treatment to her little one who, when worn out by the pain of its aching gums or from some other cause, wails over its little sorrows? In the nursery it is considered rank heresy to say, "Let baby cry a little, it will do him good," and so the poor little scrap of humanity is shaken and joggled, shouted at and sung to, made to look at the bright fire or lamp light and treated in a manner calculated to drive a nerve-racked adult to distraction. Of course, there is a difference between a grown person and a baby, but nerve is common to both, and those of the infant demand the greater gentleness. Instead of trying to amuse the helpless infant, let it enjoy the luxury of wailing a little; probably a good cry is as much a relief to him as to his overwrought mother. To be sure, crying always means something amiss, and it is the duty of the mother to discover the cause. If it is the fretful cry of weariness, then the kindest and best course is to let the little tot rest in a quiet place with subdued light, where it has a chance of getting sleep, that sovereign remedy for so many of the troubles of suffering, nerve-racked humanity.

SHE HAD PASSED AWAY.

An Irishman who owed his landlord a few pounds, arrears of rent, was one day in the house sitting with his wife when a knock came to the door. Pat answered and to his surprise saw two bailiffs. In a bit of fun Pat said: "Will you come again in an hour, as my wife is going and I want her to pass away in peace!"

The bailiffs, thinking Pat's wife was dying, agreed and Pat gave them sixpence to get some beer. Whilst they were away he and his wife moved the furniture out of the back door and in about an hour a knock came. Pat went to the door and one of the bailiffs said: "Has she passed away?"

MISUNDERSTOOD.

Her lip quivered and her breath came in painful gasps, but she did not speak. "Do you not love me?" he anxiously demanded, seizing her shrinking hand. "I—I don't know," she faltered. Gently he put his arm around her. "Darling," he murmured, "would you like to have me ask your mother first?" With a sudden cry of terror, she grasped his arm. "No, no, no," she cried. "She is a widow. I want you myself." She clung to him until he solemnly promised not to say anything to the old lady at present.

WHAT THEY MISSED.

At an evening party a lady was entertaining her friends with an account of her only matrimonial quarrel. After making it up with one another she said her husband had planted a tree in remembrance of it. "If we had only done that," said another lady to her husband, "what a splendid avenue we might have had."

MY CRUCIFIX.

A little metal crucifix,
As plain as it can be,
But only God in heaven knows
How dear it is to me.

I have it always with me,
In every step I take,
At evening when I slumber,
At morning when I wake.

In bright or cloudy weather,
In sunshine or in rain,
In happiness or sorrow,
In pleasure or in pain,

It helps me in my struggles,
It reproves me when I sin,
Its look of gentle patience
Rebukes the strife within.

In days of pain and anguish
The greatest help I knew
Was to hold that little crucifix
Until I calmer grew.

And looking on that Figure
Which hung in patience there,
I saw the dreadful torture
Which He in love did bear.

His feet are nailed together,
His loving arms outspread,
And blood is dripping slowly
Down from His thorn-crowned head.

And how could I then murmur,
Or bitterly complain,
When love for me induced Him
To undergo such pain?

So when the time approaches
That I will have to die,
I hope that little crucifix
Will close beside me lie;

That the Holy Name of Jesus
May be the last I say,
And kissing that dear crucifix,
My soul may pass away.

—Caroline Gallagher.

HINTS ON STYLE.

A very fine weave of linen, with a stiff linen finish and also with a soft Irish finish, comes in all the plain colors and shades of colors for winter skirt waists.

Cool wood brown is the color of the season, sometimes pale and occasionally quite dark, though never rich in tone. In the new chiffon velours it is most beautiful.

So popular has the long skirt become that when a short blouse is worn out of doors the skirt is trimmed to simulate the skirt coat. A light wood brown bopack gives an excellent notion of how this is accomplished.

The only street coat that has not a skirt or the effect of it in the double skirt is the new Eton. In water green panne Venetian cloth a stunning example of these Etons is shown trimmed with baby lamb and pale green lace.

The season's princess is a startling garment of the moulded and run-in style. From shoulder to knee it is absolutely plain and as tight as can be hooked up. Then below the knees there is a flaring circular flounce.

Cotton shirt waists are going to be worn all winter through, even in the frostiest weather. This is a much more important statement than it might seem to be on the surface, for the wash shirt waist is not a mere article of wearing apparel—it is a symbol.

Heavy cottons, plain and mercerized, are this season's preference for all wash waists, though wash wool is all right in a large family of similar tastes, where the garment can be handed down from girl to girl as the waist grows gradually less from Monday to Monday.

The exaggerated 1880 skirt will prove a fascinating but perilous garment to the girl fresh from short tweeds and knickers. It is a beautiful, graceful skirt, however, with an old-fashioned double puff at the head of the flounce and violet embroidered lace in a plain band above the knees.

In the wash French flannels every possible variation of the pastel shades has been introduced and, with all their delicacy, they are permanent. Thin, crisp Scotch flannels are coming over printed in the most marvelous stripes, colors as brilliant as an Italian landscape and as impervious to water.

There is a hint of hoopskirts in the latest fall and winter fashions, but that the crinoline has yet appeared, but there is such a need for it in the fullness and length of the new skirts. If these voluminous draperies are going to be worn in heavy-weight winter materials, what chance for health is there without crinoline?

A material more novel than the chevrot and not so generally seen is crossstitched canvas. It comes in plain art colors, with a very coarse open mesh, has a sufficiently distinct square weave to be used as an embroidery foundation and is undoubtedly manufactured to meet the craze for elaborate cross stitch embroidery on shirt waists.

FRIENDS WELCOME.

Will McCue, a popular young man of Portland, has accepted a position with Patrick J. Nelligan, at Nineteenth and Portland avenue, where he will be pleased to see his friends.

SPRAINED ANKLES.

Edward White, a prominent member of Division 2, A. O. H., and member of the fire department, was seriously injured Monday while exercising the horses of the No. 16 Engine Company. Both his ankles were sprained and Mr. White will be confined to his home for several weeks.

MASONIC THEATER.

All society will be interested in the fact that Rebecca Warren will appear at the Masonic Theater next week in the difficult role of Tess in Lorien Stoddard's dramatization of Thomas Hardy's novel, "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," supported by a strong cast. The production is under the stage direction of Will J. Dean, which is a sufficient guarantee of a fine performance of this beautiful play.

DILLON

Talks to the People of East Mayo on the Land Bill.

Advised Them to Be Irishmen First and Farmers Afterward.

Declares That Nationalists Must Not Quarrel Over Matters of Detail.

HE WILL SEEK HEALTH ABROAD

The Hon. John Dillon in a recent address to the people of East Mayo at Swinford said that upon the advice of his physicians he would have to go abroad for his health and might remain away several months. But, he added, if he found it impossible in the future to do his duty by his constituents, he would never leave East Mayo unrepresented.

Continuing, Mr. Dillon said that the present was a doubly interesting and critical time in the history of the national movement and he felt it to be his duty to come here and state frankly and fully to his constituents, who had so long trusted him, his views on the subject which was undoubtedly uppermost in the mind, he might say, of every individual in Ireland—the new land bill, what it contained, what it offered to the people, what the landlords would get under it and whether in the beginning they ought to use the old years' purchase or the new method, the percentage of reduction. But before he came to particulars with regard to the land act he wished to make two preliminary observations. The first was that the land question was not the whole of Irish politics. In dealing with the Irish land question they must never forget the general interests of the nation, nor leave out of their conversation the effect on the cause of Irish freedom of any particular policy that might be adopted. He had always held that the Irish farmer was an Irishman before he was a farmer, and unless he were prepared to take his stand and make sacrifices for the common good of his country he would let them fight their own battle. Another preliminary observation which he wished to make was this, that in dealing with the land question they were dealing with a question of enormous complexity, and it is absolutely impossible that differences of opinion on matters of detail should not arise, and he, for the life of him, could not see why Nationalists should get angry and quarrel over such matters of detail. Now he, for instance, was fully convinced that in making these bargains with their landlords the only safe plan for the tenants was to insist upon calculating the price to be paid for their farms in terms of the number of years' purchase of the rent, so that the tenants might have an opportunity of comparing easily and simply the price they were called upon to give with the price which their neighbors over the ditch were called upon to pay. Why should they be called upon to do this act to apply a different measure of value unless it were for the purpose of deceiving the tenants and allowing the landlords to get out of them the better prices for the lands? The Government returns, giving them the most accurate details, were all compiled on the basis of the number of years' rent, and therefore the farmer had no standard of comparison unless he knew the number of years' rent which he was asked to pay. If a friend of his in the National party took the view that it was essential to his plan to look not at the number of years' purchase, but at the amount of reduction, he would not quarrel with him, but would try to convert him to his own view. This act opened up a number of very complex and complicated questions which involved the vital interests of the people, not only in their capacity as individuals, but also as an economic unit. And this question must be discussed in the fullest and freest manner possible. The fuller and freer the discussion the better for the people of Ireland. In considering the details of the act and what is offered to the tenant farmers and to the people of Ireland he said the first question was a question of price. After a careful study of the great mass of literature that had appeared in the newspapers on this subject, he had not seen any attempt to answer the question. Was there any reason why, on the passing of the land act, the price of land should be raised? That question was put by the Bishop of Raphoe a few days ago. He had seen no answer to it yet, and he now repeated it. What was there that justified a landlord in coming to his tenant and saying: "I want one, or two, or three, or four years' more purchase now than I would have been willing to accept before the act was passed." In conclusion Mr. Dillon said he thought the Congested Districts Board had done great work and he hoped it would continue its benefits to the people.

AMENDED CONSTITUTION.

The Catholic Mutual Benefit Association held its triennial convention in Pittsburgh recently and made several changes in the constitution. The rates were so adjusted as to conform to all the requirements of the Fraternal Congress. It was decided to classify certain persons as hazardous, while others are classed as non-hazardous. From January 1, 1904, no saloon-keeper, bartender nor any person who is engaged in the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage will be allowed admission to the order. The age limit was reduced from eighteen to sixteen years.

REDMOND

Addressed a Tremendous Gathering of Irishmen at Killarney.

Told of the Unity of Irish Forces and Division of the British.

Uttered a Protest Against Emigration of Irish Boys and Girls.

PRESENTED WITH MANY ADDRESSES

The Hon. John Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary party, addressed several thousand of his countrymen at Killarney last Sunday, urging the careful consideration of the new land act and opposing emigration.

It was the greatest gathering seen at Killarney in many years. Special trains brought excursionists from Mallow, Castletown, Listowel, Kenmare and Killarney, while hundreds came afoot and on horseback. Mr. John Murphy, M. P., David M. Moriarty, Chairman of the County Council, and other leaders met Mr. Redmond at the railway station and accompanied him to the place where the speaking was held.

Congratulatory addresses were presented in behalf of the local societies and by the County Council.

Mr. Redmond in his address stated that the ownership of the land was essential for national progress. He said there was sufficient land to support ten times the present population, but it was in the hands of a few landlords or graziers, while the people were huddled together on barren lands. The great problem, Mr. Redmond said, was to give the tenant farmer the ownership of the land he tilled. This, he thought, would be accomplished by the land act.

On the general prospects of the Irish cause Mr. Redmond said there was good grounds for hope and confidence. He pointed out the fact that confusion had overtaken both the English parties in Parliament. These same parties had been wont to sneer at Irish weaknesses and differences. From the moment when Rosebery, in the name of the Liberal party, went back on Gladstone's policy for Ireland that party had gone steadily to ruin, and it must be to all friends of Ireland and to all who honor the memory of Gladstone a great satisfaction to know that Rosebery was not appointed Prime Minister on Gladstone's recommendation when the latter retired.

The Tory party, Mr. Redmond declared, was so broken and shattered that with its majority of 150 in the House of Commons it would not remain in power a week after Parliament assembled. While the English parties were divided, weak and hopeless, the Irish party was solid. He held that the more independent and prosperous the farmers and laborers of Ireland become the better the educational facilities at the disposal of the youth of Ireland, the more justice they obtained on the question of the financial relations the more fitted would the Irish nation become for self-government and the more determined to obtain it.

Mr. Redmond dwelt at length on emigration and bitterly opposed it. One cause of emigration that ought to be removed, he said, was the exaggerated prospect held out to Irish boys and girls if they went to America. He criticized Mr. Carnegie's speech at Waterford, where the latter had told of the prosperous condition of the Irish in the United States. Mr. Redmond said that the poorest laborer in Kerry was happier than the majority of Irish workingmen in the United States.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing the Past Week—General News Notes.

Three applications for membership were received by Division 3 on Monday night. Division 3 of Dover, N. H., is preparing to hold a fair beginning Monday, November 23.

The Syracuse divisions are preparing to hold a series of lectures during the winter. County President Fleming, of New Albany, paid a $200 death benefit to the widow of Joseph Gill.

Members of the order at Zanesville, Ohio, will celebrate Thanksgiving day by conferring the degrees on a class of twenty-five candidates.

Division 3 at its last meeting tendered the Kentucky Irish American a vote of thanks for commendatory articles on its nineteenth anniversary celebration.

At Youngstown, Ohio, last Sunday 100 candidates received the degrees. Members of the order from all over the State witnessed the impressive ceremonies.

Miss Katherine Sheridan, of Boston, State President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, reports a net gain of 2,000 in the membership of the auxiliary in Massachusetts.

Division 3 of Dayton, Ohio, is preparing to hold a bazaar from November 23 to 28, to raise an emergency fund for the relief of those suffering beyond thirteen weeks.

County President Pat Sullivan and James Coleman were among those who expressed their delight at the success of the anniversary celebration of two weeks previous.

Ex-State President Martin Cusick is not only a good Hibernian, but an excellent prophet on matters political. His prediction of the result in the Eleventh ward proved to be correct.

Pat Holly was warmly welcomed when he made his appearance at the last meeting of Division 3. It was his first visit in many weeks. He presided and rewarded the members with a thoughtful address.

A social meeting of Division 1 and the Ladies' Auxiliary of Brainerd, Minn., was held last week. After spending an hour at progressive euchre the members spent a very enjoyable evening dancing Irish jigs and reels.

Division 1 of Duluth is preparing to observe a memorial day out of respect to deceased members. This same division took a prominent part in the laying of the corner-stone of the Cathedral parochial school on Sunday.

The degree team from Division 8 of Chicago will confer the four degrees on a large class on the North Side November 15. Following the initiation there will be a musical and rendition of all the divisions on the North Side.

The Rev. W. T. McLoughlin, State Chaplain of the order in New Jersey, lectured at Newark under the auspices of Division 5. Many stereoscopic views were used to illustrate the lecture and occasionally appropriate songs were sung.

The Minnesota State officers of the Ladies' Auxiliary have undertaken to increase the membership in that State to 5,000 before May 1. To stimulate the members to secure recruits several prizes have been offered. To any member who will bring into her division fifty new members will be given a round trip ticket to the St. Louis World's Fair, including expenses not to exceed $75. Similar prizes are offered for those who bring thirty, twenty and ten new members.

The Oliver Hibernian school has been opened in Baltimore and the registration of pupils is in charge of officers of the Hibernians. In opening this school the order is carrying out the terms of a legacy that came into the hands of its officers sixty years ago. More than 100 pupils are in attendance and the scholars receive their books without charge.

Division 5 of Chicago recently gave one of the best entertainments in the history of the division. Among those present were the State President, two County Presidents and fourteen division Presidents. The State President of the Ladies' Auxiliary, just home from Ireland, was also present and gave a graphic description of all she saw and heard in the Green Isle.

Attorney Frank M. Tracy, one of the new members recently received into Division 1 at Covington, makes this declaration: "While I broke an important engagement to be initiated last week, I have nothing to be sorry for. I can assure you October 28 will be a red letter day in the history of my life. I see now what I have lost all these years. I have been made a better Catholic. I have begun to know my people, my country, and if I dare say, I have gotten in touch with the country of my ancestors across the sea. Yes, I am a Hibernian to my dying day."

MACAULEY'S.

The ever popular "Burgomaster" comes to Macauley's Theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights of next week with a matinee on Wednesday. Miss Ruth White will be the prima donna and Oscar L. Pigman the leading comedian. Tim Murphy, in "The Man from Missouri," will be the attraction during the last half of the week with a Saturday matinee.

BUCKINGHAM.

"Weber's Dainty Duchess" will be the attraction at the Buckingham Theater next week. It is described as a side-splitting, farical comedy, elaborately staged. Among the star entertainers are Williams and Adams; Jordan and Harvey; the Monte Carlo Millionaires; Hayes and Suits, refined vaudeville and specialty artists; Zimmer, the European comedy juggler, and the Duchess Four, Frey, Allen, Evans and Vynner. Besides there will be two burlettas, "A Day and a Night" and "Mistakes Will Happen." The usual matinees will be given.

HOPKINS.

Splendid vaudeville attractions continue to draw large audiences to two performances twice a day at Hopkins' Theater. Not only does Manager Hopkins present good vaudeville bills, but he has an able and energetic press agent in Mr. Carl C. Ousley, who from his long newspaper experience knows how to touch the popular chord. Next week Mr. Hopkins promises to eclipse all former bills with such celebrities as the Kaufman Cycle Troupe, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Darrow, with shadow, sand and smoke pictures; Clifford and Dixon, German comedians; Kelly and Violette, the famous fashion plate duo; J. Warren Keane, pianist and juggler, and the Bretto Stein family in jumping and comedy acrobatics.

The residence of Stephen E. Curry, formerly High Sheriff of the County Kerry, was recently destroyed by fire. All his household effects were destroyed.

It has been agreed that 20 per cent. reduction is to be given on second term rents and the first term rents fixed since 1896, while on first term rents fixed before or in 1896 the reduction by the sale is to be 25 per cent. Negotiations are also being made for the purchase of the holdings on the Butler estate, Tipperary, and the Gascoyne estate, near Kilsnane.

Lord Ardilaun, of Clontarf, Dublin, is one of those not enthusiastically in favor of the land bill. He said at a recent meeting that it was impossible to gauge the value of the land act for good or evil. He had no objection to the act, but he disapproved of the principles on which it was founded, which was of bribing the tenants to purchase their holdings and bribing the landlords to sell. Continuing, he said there was no doubt that toward the landlords it was the fairest act that had ever been passed. Lord Ardilaun is referring to the fiscal question declared in favor of protection.
